Why choose to travel in Switzerland by

PUBLIC TRANSPORT?

Because Switzerland is... SWISSTAINABLE

Switzerland is committed to becoming an increasingly sustainable development that respects the environment, local culture and communities. Sustainability is expressed through the use of public transport such as the Bernina Express, the Green Train of the Alps, the Rigi and Jungfrau railways and other iconic mountain lines, as well as the search for authentic itineraries with overnight stays in small villages (Lake Poschiavo, Kandersteg, Brienz, Guarda, Ospizio Bernina) for walks and excursions immersed in alpine nature, far from overtourism.

Rigi

THE RIGI RAILWAY

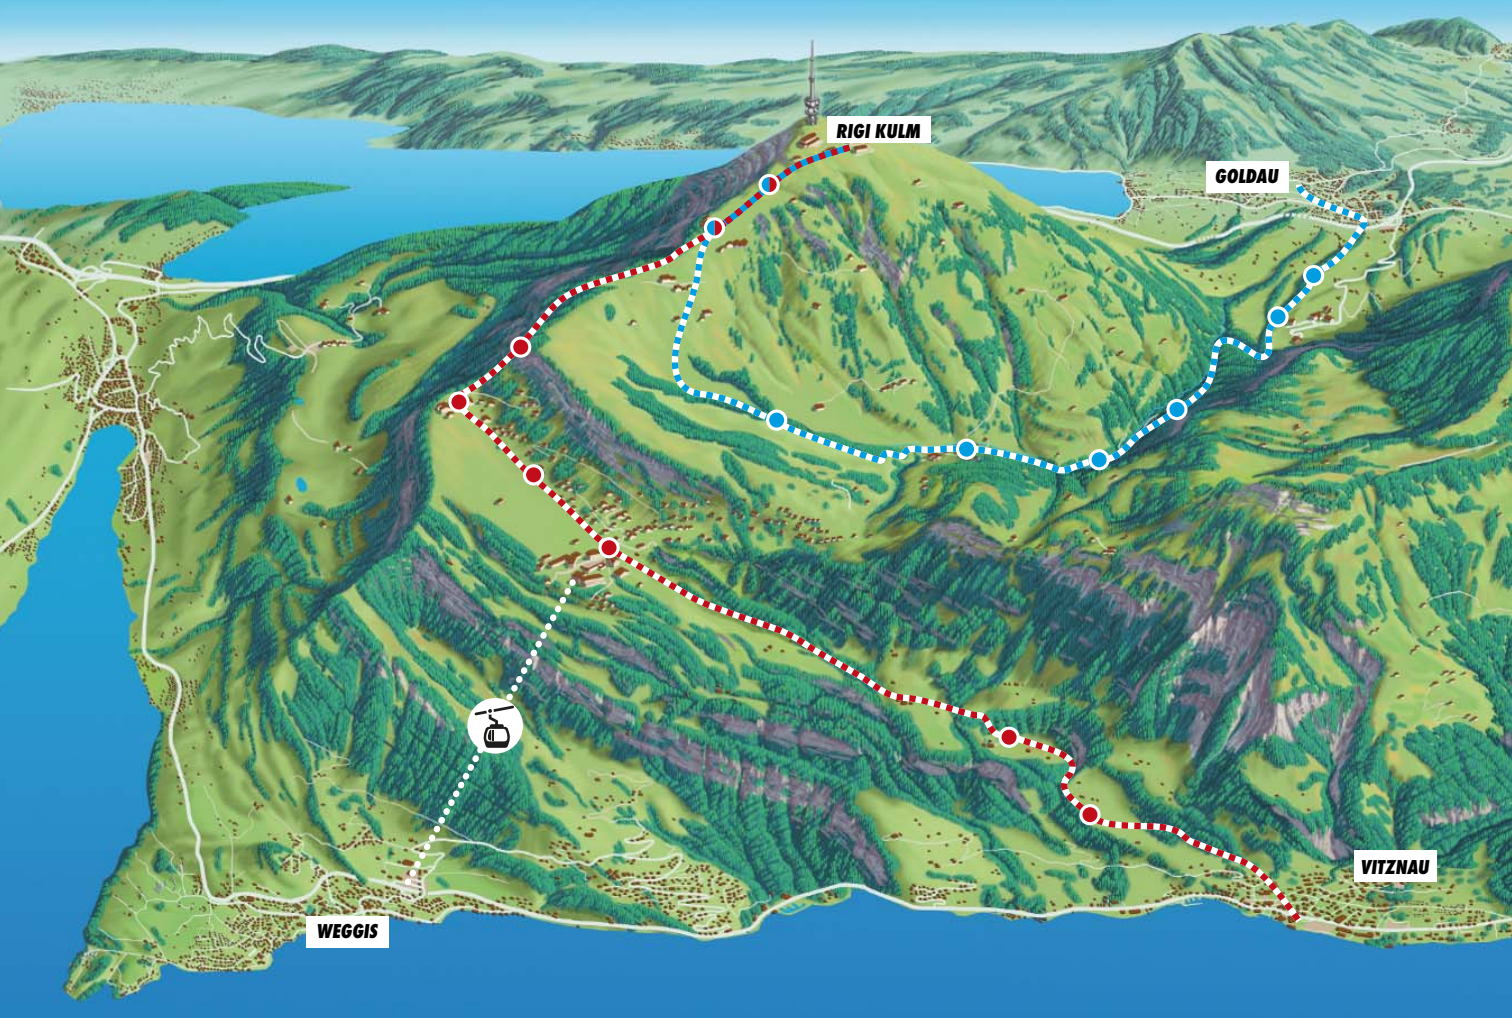

The Rigi was the first rack railway in Europe and was inaugurated in 1871.

Even today it carries tourists up Mount Rigi (1,800 m), also known as the "QUEEN" OF THE MOUNTAINS. There are two independent rack railway lines. The railway from Vitznau, with white and brown trains, climbs 1,313 metres of elevation over a 6.9 km route with a maximum gradient of 25%, while the one from Arth-Goldau, with white and light-blue trains, climbs 1,234 metres of elevation over an 8.5 km route with a maximum gradient of 20%.

Both railways are today electrified with 1,500-volt direct current and use the Riggerbach-type rack system. From Weggis, a small, idyllic resort town on the shores of Lake Lucerne, you can reach Rigi Kaltbad aboard a scenic cable car in under 10 minutes, then continue on the rack railway up to Rigi-Kulm.

The two rack railways, as well as the scenic cable car from Weggis, make this journey to the mountains an unforgettable experience.
